

Synology provides one of the most popular NAS systems and many Daminion users are Synology owners.

Daminion can be integrated with Synology Photo Station so that Daminion provides the back-end library management capabilities, and Photo Station the front-end web publishing service that allows users to share their photo library.

This content is created and maintained by Paul Barrett, a Daminion user. Please click the link below to view the content which is hosted externally (on the same DiskStation where his own integration with Photo Station is hosted.)

Subjects covered include:

- Setting up Photo Station
- Setting up Daminion
- How tagging works across the two applications
- File and Folder Management
- Synology Drive
- Synology Moments

His posts are independent and represent his views only. In publishing them on our site

Daminion does not validate or accept responsibility for the accuracy of the content nor for the consequences of following his advice

Synology and Daminion Integration >